

Hi there! My name is Ruth Lowry. I'm from Cavan, situated near the centre of Ireland. I study geography and French at the university of Maynooth, which is about an hour away from Dublin City by train, and I have completed two years of study.

My hobbies include listening to most genres of music, and reading when I find the time. I used to play piano when I was younger, and I learned to play a little of the bass guitar later on too. I'm also into spending time with close friends and occasionally watching movies. The kind of movies I enjoy are usually drama and science fiction movies.

I don't consider myself a sporty person, but I sometimes like playing table tennis. I also did some fencing briefly at college.

I'm looking forward to learning with you all this year!
