

A little about me...

Hello there! My name is Carys and as you all know, I am working with you as your English language assistant. I am from Surrey, just south west of London, in the UK. I studied Geography for three years at the University of Bristol and have decided to spend this year improving my French and travelling the world. I really enjoy music and I play the piano and saxophone. I love art, tennis, reading, writing, and of course, exploring new countries.
